The long way to empower people to control technology

Barcelona, 2016/04/12

Matthias Kirschner
fsfe.org/about/kirschner
Millions of possibilities we just know a fraction
But who will decide?
The GNU General Public License is a free, copyleft license for software and other kinds of works.

The licenses for most software and other practical works are designed to take away your freedom to share and change the works. By contrast, the GNU General Public License is intended to guarantee your freedom to share and change all versions of a program—to make sure it remains free software for all its users. We, the Free Software Foundation, use the GNU General Public License for most of our software; it applies also to any other work released this way by its authors. You can apply it to your programs, too.

When we speak of free software, we are referring to freedom, not price. Our General Public Licenses are designed to make sure that you have the freedom to distribute copies of free software /and charge for them if you wish/., that you receive source code or can get it if you want it, that you can change the software or use pieces of it in new free programs, and that you know you can do these things.

To protect your rights, we need to prevent others from denying you these rights or asking you to surrender the rights. Therefore, you have certain responsibilities if you distribute copies of the software, or if you modify it: responsibilities to respect the freedom of others.
US Nuclear Chain of Command

President

Secretary of Defense

Unified Combat Commanders
US Nuclear Chain of Command

- President
- Secretary of Defense
- Unified Combat Commanders

Engineer who installed the red button
Sofa
Microsoft

versus

European Commission

860,000,000 EUR

l.fsfe.org/ms-vs-eu
"Only the other day, the Free Software Foundation wrote to me about open standards. With their letter they enclosed something I don’t normally get in the mail, a pair of handcuffs. Because they’re worried about 'digital handcuffs', and wanted to know if I am with them on openness. And the answer is yes."

Neelie Kroes
Vice President of the European Commission
Our Legal Work
Free Your Android!

Regain control of your Android device and your data. Liberate it from data leeches and run it without a Google account. We've collected all the information necessary to run (almost) exclusively Free Software on your phone, so you can take ownership of your mobile device.

Help us free the last few critical apps, and make phone liberation an effortless experience so that all Android owners may enjoy the benefits.

http://FreeYourAndroid.org
Success: 1125 / 2104 = 53%
Hinweis zur Nutzung

Die Formulare und Infoblätter sind als PDF-Datei verfügbar.

Entscheiden Sie sich für einen Freien PDF-Betrachter!

Haftungsausschluss
I love TOR 'cause it saves life in TURKEY.
There is NO CLOUD, just other people's computers
Thanks to dedicated volunteers, sustaining members, donors
Right to Tinker
Radio Lockdown Directive
Publicly financed software to be published as Free Software
"Many small people, in many small places, do many small things that can alter the face of the world."